interleukin 12 a key immunoregulatory cytokine in ... - and functions of il-12 are reviewed and the role of il-12 in regulating immune responses and treating infections is discussed. 2. il-12 molecular structure and signaling pathway 2.1. il-12 molecular structure il-12 is a key immunoregulatory cytokine [2,4,5] with a molecular weight of 70 kda (figure 1), p38 mapk autophosphorylation drives macrophage il-12 ... - p38 mapk autophosphorylation drives macrophage il-12 production during intracellular infection1 leesun kim,* laura del rio,* barbara a. butcher,* trine h. mogensen, tsøren r. paludan, richard a ... (il)-6, il-12, interferon-g, and tumor necrosis factor ... - related to systemic il-6 but rather secondarily to il-6-dependent tumor growth. the absence of host-derived il-12, ifn-g, or th1 receptor 1 or receptor 2 gene did not attenuate tumor growth or improve subsequent cachexia. thus, carcass weight loss was not improved by the omission of host cytokine (tnf-a, il-12, or ifn-g) except for il-6 ... il-35- and il-10-dependent immunoregulatory lymphocytes in ... - autoimmune diseases [10, 11] until il-35-producing b cell have been identified as a negative regulator [11]. this was confirmed by il-10-independent immune inhibition in mouse models [12,13]. il-35 regulatory roles had been investigated severally in ra models. it showed to induce different regulatory t cell (t reg) cell proinflammatory cytokines and sepsis syndrome: not enough ... - il-12 and il-18 in turn activate t cells and natural killer (nk) cells to produce interferon-g (ifn-g). ifn-g, together with il-12, induces differentiation of cd4+ cells into th1 phenotype, characterized by production of ifn-g, il-2 and lymphotoxin a (lta). moreover, ifn-g is able to inhibit the differentiation of cd4+ cells into the th2 ... il-12 enhances the generation of tumour antigen-specific ... - il-12 is a cytokine that is uniquely different from other. ... clinical and experimental immunology, 135:322-329 commonly used cytokines, such as il-7, in that it only acts on activated t cells [8]. while the effects of il-12 are well characterized on the ... chemical inc.
